HEAVY FOG ALSO ASSISTS

Terrific Bombardment and Favor of Elements Material Factors in Overcoming Germans.

KNOXVILLE, April 5.—Three days ago a terrific bombardment, the heaviest since the war, was directed against the Hindenburg line.

The battle of Bellemeur and Nagoy, which was fought on September 23, was, in my judgment, the judgment of the highest military authorities, one of the most important battles of the war.

SALESGIRLS TOO PRETTY TO REMAIN UNMARRIED

EVANSTON, Ill., April 5.—Evanston does not take up much room in the world's gazetteer, but the managers of the two department stores in this town certainly can select pretty girls for salesladies.

And as a result the unmarried population of the town shops feverishly as the most seasoned bargain hunter of the female species.

Also, the managers of the stores say, they are having a hard time keeping the girls. They all marry shortly after they start to work.

One manager lost eight girls in one week.

Four eloped without giving notice.

If there lives a girl, good looking and with sales ability, who has no intention of marrying, she will be able to land a good position in one of Evanston's department stores.

$1,000,000 BUILDING PLAN FOR M'ALESTER

Every New House Calls for Somebody Else to Get in the Procession.

M'ALESTER, Okla., April 5.—At least one million, with the prospects of that much, and possibly more, will be spent during the next six months in this city on a building program.

An evidence of the new growth of McAlester is experiencing a survey of the building propositions already made known shows that this city has a program of this proportion.

Plans are complete for the construction of a new edifice by the Methodist Episcopal church, south of a street of $4,000, work to start within the next thirty days.

The North McAlester Baptist church has plans under way for the building of a $25,000 new house before the summer wanes.

Several Law Bodies Reconsider Rickard's Championship Battle

NEW YORK, April 5.—Following the action of the Nevada legislature in passing the 25 round boxing bill over the head of Governor Ryan, who had vetoed it, came word that the Idaho legislature had fallen into line with a new law permitting 20 round bouts with four ounce gloves.

The sport to be governed by a state commission of three members. In view of the probability that Tex Rickard will stage the Willard-Dempsey fight in either Nevada or Idaho, unless he can do better in some other state, doubt no longer exists as to the positive appearance of the world's heavyweight and his young challenger in the ring on July 4.

Rickard, whose expenses will reach $200,000, has plenty of time for deciding on the battle ground. Already he has received an offer of $100,000 in cash for the championship glove fight from a newly organized club located at Pocatello, Idaho, and headed by J. Robb Brady, son of the late United States senator of that name and state.

Brady wired this offer to Rickard a few minutes after Governor Davis had signed the bill legalizing the sport.

The example set by the Nevada and Idaho lawmakers, prompted by popular clamor, led by returned soldiers who have learned since going into the army that boxing is harmless, should create new sentiment for Senator Gibbs' boxing measure, which soon will come to a vote in New York state.

If boxing is legalized in the empire state other legislative doubtless will pass measures to follow under consideration. In about the ring game will be revealed all over the United States, meaning that in the time few champions in all of the weight classes will be developed.

When Rickard agreed to hang up $125,000 for the Willard-Dempsey bouts some of the skeptics said he had lost his head. But now it seems that the famous promoter, as usual, knew what he was doing.

More than three months must elapse before the date for the big fight arrives. Yet Rickard is in a position to play Nevada against Idaho, in case he decides to go to one of those states. But it is a sure thing that Rickard will not reach a hurried conclusion. He can afford to take his own time, knowing that Nevada and Idaho are awaiting to receive him with open arms. Rickard, since arranging the Willard-Dempsey affair, has been figuring on favorable legislation in various states and he firmly believes that if he selects the right spot the state receipts will break all records.

Saving the Grain

Usually considerable grain is wasted in harvesting. Many Southwestern farmers have devised plans that eliminated the bigger part of this waste.

Now that it is coming the season when plans for grain harvesting must be worked out, it will be profitable for you to learn how others harvest.

Coming issues of Farm and Ranch will contain many illustrated articles, written by Southwestern farmers, on the harvesting of small grains.
